Victory margin in the regular season is the most important indicator in predicting your bracket (according to bracketscience.com)

#16 seeds are 0 for 88 vs. #1 seeds; the last 18 champions have been seeded #4 or higher.

The FBI estimates that more than $2.5 billion is illegally wagered annually on March Madness. Less than 4% of that amount is wagered legally in Nevada.

No. 16 and No. 15 seeds are a combined 4-180 in the last 23 years.

Defining an upset as beating a team at least 4 seeds higher, there's an average of 8.7 per year. There's never been a year with less than 5 upsets.

Odds of picking a perfect bracket? 9 QUINTILLION to 1.

There were 7.5 million unique visitors to CBS March Madness on Demand in 2009
